

Comment #8 – 1/29/10 – 4:27 p.m.

I was very concerned with the response to the previous comment shown on Page 18. The previous commentator suggested that it should be required that an actuary disclose when material changes in assumptions have been made from a prior analysis. I believe that it is essential that this disclosure be required. I believe that the last two sentences of ASOP 9, Section 5.2 should be included in ASOP 41.

Thank you.

Charles M. Angell FCAS, MAAA
Acting Deputy Commissioner & Casualty Actuary
Alabama Department of Insurance